LAND FOR SALE.

THE undersigned, as Executor of Samuel W. Branch, deceased, will offer at public vendue, to the highest bidder, on the First Monday in November next, the tract of Land belonging to the estate of the said Samuel W. Branch, on which the said Samuel W. Branch resided at the time of his death.

The said tract of Land is situated in Halifax county, North Carolina, about two miles east of Enfield which is the nearest Depot. It contains twelve hundred acres, about two thirds of which are cleared and in cultivation. One hundred acres of the cultivated lands are low grounds of the finest quality. The upland has inexhaustable supplies of marl, of easy access, and is as well adapted to the growth of cotton as any upland plantation in the State. There is a good Dwelling-house, Gin-house, Still-house and out-houses on the Land, an Apple Orchard, in good bearing, sufficient to make ten barrels Brandy, and altogether the plantation is one of the most desirable in the State.

At least three thousand dollars will be required in cash. A credit of one, two and three years will be allowed on the remainder of the purchase money, which must be unexceptionably secured by personal security, or the purchaser may pay all cash at his option. The title, which is indisputable, will be retained until the purchase money is paid. Persons who may desire to purchase can have an opportunity of riding over the plantation by calling at the dwelling. Possession will be given on the 1st of January next.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF

DESIRABLE DWELLING, NICE TOWN LOTS, AND A TRACT OF LAND

Near Warrenton, N. C.

As executor of Dr. Hugh J. Davis, to effect a division among his legatees, I shall sell to the highest bidder, on the 15th day of November, 1866, at his late residence, in the town of Warrenton, N. C., the DWELLING HOUSE and LOT. Also a Lot in front of Dwelling, and a Lot adjoining the Court-House square; and a tract of Land about two miles distant from Warrenton.

The Dwelling is in cottage style, containing ten rooms, and has two basements. Near the centre of the town, surrounded by magnificent oaks, it is in one of the handsomest locations in Warrenton, on a lot of about four and a half acres, having an ample yard and garden well inclosed, with Stables, Kitchen, Smoke House, Dairy, Carriage House, Corn Crib, Servants' House, two good Offices in the yard, a well of excellent water, and is bounded by four streets. This square is sufficiently large, and so arranged as to be divided into two beautiful Building Lots, fronting towards the main part of the town. The Lot in front of the Dwelling is enclosed, contains over an acre, without any building, and is bounded by three streets.

The lot in rear of the Court-House fronts on the street about one hundred and ninety-two (192) feet, and contains about three-fourths of an acre. This lot has a Store, with several rooms, at the north corner, a residence in the centre, with several rooms, and an office with two rooms at the south end.

The tract of Land contains two hundred and eleven acres, in original growth partly, but mostly in second growth pine, and is situated on both sides of the main road to Clark's Bridge. Being so near Warrenton by a good road, this tract is valuable for its fire wood, having been reserved for this purpose, but would make a nice farm.

Possession of Dwelling and Lots given on first of January, 1867, and the tract of Land given up at sale.

TERMS—On the Dwelling, five hundred dollars cash, and on that and the rest of the property a credit of twelve months, from day of possession. Bonds, with satisfactory security, required and title withheld until payment. Inquiries answered.

INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS.

Scientific men, who thoroughly understand the subject, concur with great unanimity in saying that nothing exerts such a delcterious influence against health as bad bread. The remedy is at hand in SIMPSON'S INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS, the value of which is thus certified:

RALEIGH, Aug. 24, 1866.

I have tested the Yeast Powders you manufacture and can recommend them as vastly superior to any other ever used by me. In addition to the lightness and sweetness of the bread, the powders are economical, as one-third the lard usually required will answer in the making of either loaf bread or biscuit. For pastries and cakes they are excellent.

VIRGINIA A. ORR.

The price of these powders per package is 25 cts. or 75 cts. per pound. To be had at Wm. Simpson's Confectionary Store, Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23, 1866.

This is to certify that I have used Mr. Simpson's Yeast Powders and find them to be superior to any I have ever used. After trying them once no housekeeper will be satisfied without them.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, SEATON GALES. } Editors.

Tuesday Evening, Oct. 2, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS. NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

Election, Thursday, October 18th.

Our Duty.

So we are to have no formal canvass. We regret this, because we were really anxious that the friends and advocates of the Howard amendment should have come into the field with a regular candidate committed to that issue, in order that its strength might be fairly tested before the people. We desired that no room should be left for excuse or equivocation. We are thoroughly persuaded that no man, who favors that amendment, can receive exceeding 10,000 votes (and this we consider an extravagant estimate) in North Carolina. Such an exposure of the estimation in which our people hold the men who counsel the acceptance of that humiliating measure, and who seek the degradation of their own fellow-citizens, would destroy their influence for evil forever. As matters stand, however, although these men, and their sympathizers, will still cast their suffrages for Gen. Dockery, and will employ every means to give him as strong a vote as possible, they will turn around, after the election, and lustily claim that the voice of the people upon the Howard amendment has not been fully expressed, as there was no canditate in the field pledged to its support. Although they feel and they know, unmistakably, that the popular condemnation rests upon them, and that, in the event of a regular canvass, it would descend, with terrible force, upon their heads, yet they have reached that point of political hardihood that they have no respect for the will of the people and are callous to the public opinion.—So they can get the offices, for which their cormorant souls hanker, they care not a groat for the humiliation of their neighbors, the principles of constitutional government or the reputation of the State.

Again, we regret that there is to be no formal canvass, for the reason that we fear our friends, in the absence of a regular opposing candidate to Gov. Worth, may not feel the inducements to exertion, or the necessity of going to the polls, which would otherwise stimulate them. But we warn them to be on their guard. We beg that they will not ignore, simply because Gov. Worth's election is a fixed fact, the imperative obligation that rests upon them to exhibit their full strength in this trying hour. They owe it to President Johnson that they should express, at the ballot-box, in the most full and decisive manner, their gratitude to him for his efforts to preserve to them the safeguards of Constitutional freedom and screen them from the fury of Jacobin malignity. They owe it to the high promptings of patriotism—to their own manhood—to their children and their children's children—to the character and good name of North Carolina—that they should put on record their indignant reprobation of a scheme that is to subvert the true principles of Republican government and that is to debase and degrade them to a political inferiority, the more abject, because, if not spurned, it must be self-imposed. There is the same necessity for us to work, to talk, to vote, as if there were an organized foe, under its black banner, in the field, instead of only a sort of secret, underhanded and insidious enemy to contend with. The necessity is even greater. We had rather, any day, meet an open antagonist, in the full blaze of day, than a covert foe who skulks under cover of an ambuscade.

Once more, then, we beseech the friends of President Johnson and Governor Worth to abate not one jot or tittle of their vigilance and energy. Let us endorse them both by as nearly unanimous a vote as we possibly can. Let us proclaim to the world that if we are to fall beneath the wreck of civil liberty, no cowardly suicidal hand shall precipitate the catastrophe!

Wake Candidates.

The candidates for the Legislature in this County addressed the people at the Court House, last evening.

Messrs. Russ, Perry and Overby announced themselves as candidates for the House of Commons,—the two latter briefly and the former at some length. Calvin J. Rogers, Esq., who is also a candidate, was not present.

The principal interest, however, seems to centre in the Senatorial canvass, and the discussion between the opposing candidates, Messrs. Bledsoe and Jones, was sharp and animated.

All of the candidates denounced the Howard amendment, and even Mr. Jones, whom the Standard endorses as its candidate, expressed his unequivocal hostility to that degrading measure, and declared that, if he voted at all in the Gubernatorial election, it would be for Gov. Worth.

Mr. Bledsoe's analysis of the Howard amendment was able and masterly, and produced a decided impression upon the audience.

We repeat what we have heretofore said:—We have nothing to do with a man's antecedents, or with his peculiar views on State or local issues. The man who stands up squarely for the policy of President Johnson, and for Gov. Worth, we shall support. When rival candidates occupy the same ground on those paramount questions, we shall be governed, in our choice between them, by considerations of their fitness for the position to which they may aspire.

The South Carolina Legislature has authorized the city of Charleston to issue "fire bonds," to the amount of $2,000,000, for the purpose of rebuilding the burnt district of that city.

W. W. Holden's Complicity with Thad. Stevens.

Whatever may be the opinions of Southern people as to the moral character of Mr. Thad. Stevens, of Penn., the leading Radical in the lower House of Congress, he occupies with that party too high a position to treat him with indifference or to pass over his declarations unnoticed.

In a recent speech of his, delivered at Lancaster, Pa., on the 27th. of September, only five days ago, he explained the history of what he calls "the enabling act." It will be recollected that Mr. Stevens, and those who act with him, boldly affirm that they will not consent to the admission of the Southern States simply because they adopt the Howard amendment. He declares that all of them must adopt universal negro suffrage, before he will give his consent, and, even then, he does not pledge himself to vote for their admission, but suggests other ruinous and humiliating conditions. He says that while he was drafting the enabling act, Gov. Hamilton, of Texas, Gov. Holden, of North Carolina, and other Southern loyalists, came to his help. But let him tell his own story. He says:

"There is one thing, however, introduced for fixing the condition of the Southern States—and since I am here I will say one word in explanation of that. I introduced a bill into Congress for the purpose of enabling the rebel states, under certain conditions, to form loyal governments. They have no governments now except some counterfeits put up by Andy Johnson. ("Three cheers for Thad. Stevens.") I proposed in that bill that every one of those conquered States should be put upon the same footing with a Territory; should elect delegates to a convention to form a republican constitution, (not such as they have got now, with slavery in them,) and in fixing the right of voters to elect those delegates I made it universal—I allowed the rebels, I allowed the black men, allowed every man to vote for delegates to the convention. When they came to form the constitution they should form it to suit themselves (not doing as Andy Johnson did, dictating what the terms of the constitution should be,) and when they formed it they should be allowed to refer it back to the people for ratification; and, if ratified, they might present it to Congress. Now, I did hope, in doing this, that our loyal friends, together with the loyal colored men, would carry the conventions and give negro suffrage. Every loyal Southern man came to me and asked me to put it in the bill. There was not a loyal man, from Governor Hamilton to Governor Holden, Chief Justice Powell and Governor Sherwood—there were twenty of these men driven from their homes who dare not go back, for fear of being murdered. They came to help me to fabricate the bill. It was not the rebels that did it; it was the loyal men that said give us that bill; and the vote of the loyal white men, added to that of the loyal black men, can carry every State but Virginia. I was in a caucus one night, when Governor Hamilton told us "to give them that law, and although we are now in the minority, and I dare not go home, for I should be murdered—give us that bill, and we can carry Texas on the side of the Union by twenty-five thousand majority." Governor Holden told me the same, and so did everybody except the Virginians."

Now, what can the people of North Carolina think of Mr. Holden, after reading the above?

It will be recollected that, last Spring, after President Johnson sent in Mr. Holden's nomination as Minister to San Salvador, he went to Washington City and remained there ten or fifteen days. This was the time, Thad. Stevens says, that Mr. Holden, with other loyalists as above stated, came to help him to fabricate that enabling bill—that they insisted that he should put in the bill universal negro suffrage; that Hamilton and others were with him at a caucus one night, when Hamilton said, (Stevens quotes his very words,) "give them that law, and, although we are now in the minority, and I dare not go home, for I should be murdered—give us that bill, and we can carry Texas on the side of the Union by twenty-five thousand majority." Stevens says further, "Gov. Holden told me the same, and so did everybody except the Virginians!"

This statement of Mr. Stevens confirms us fully in what we have believed for some time. Before Mr. Holden went to Washington, we were satisfied, from the teachings of the Standard, that he had abandoned the President and had gone over to the Radicals. But, after his return, the thing became palpable to everybody. We believed then, and the above development of Mr. Stevens fully confirms us in the belief, that Mr. Holden, at that time, although anxious for the Senate to confirm his appointment to San Salvador, yet (such was the influence of Stevens and the Radicals over him,) accepted their apologies for refusing to confirm him, and entered into collusion with them to come back to North Carolina and advocate the Howard amendment and other Radical measures, with the assurance that he should be politically rewarded in future. We say we believed it, and we believe it still. The disclosures are too strong to be resisted.

Will Mr. Holden deny it? Did Mr. Holden advise Mr. Stevens to put in his enabling bill universal negro suffrage as a condition of restoration? Did Mr. Holden intimate to Mr. Stevens that he had been driven from home and was afraid to go back for fear of being murdered?

People of North Carolina! It is in this way you have been traduced at the North. No man in North Carolina has been harmed for his principles since the war. If any man says the Union men are in danger in North Carolina, he speaks what he knows to be false. Real Union men, "so called" Union men, and all classes may fear the majesty of the law for their wickedness and lawlessness, but no good man, whatever may be his color, is afraid—no, the poorest negro in the land, if he behaves himself, is as safe in North Carolina, as Gov. Worth or any other man.

But what can Gen. Dockery, or Lewis Thompson, or D. M. Carter, or Capt. Settle, or J. P. Dick, or C. R. Thomas, or E. L. Pemberton, or O. H. Dockery, or Dr. Grisson, say to the above disclosure made by Mr. Stevens? Can they stand by Mr. Holden after this? Do they join him in favor of universal negro suffrage? Do they believe that Mr. Holden, or any other man in North Carolina, speaks truly, if he says he is afraid of being murdered for his political opinions? Will they longer stay in the same political bed with Mr. Holden, after this?

THE CLEVELAND CONVENTION.

Speech of Major General Thomas Ewing, Jr., of Kansas.

The following is an extract from the address of Major General Thomas Ewing, Jr. of Kansas, delivered before the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Cleveland, September 17, 1866, to which we alluded on yesterday:

FELLOW CITIZENS, ASSOCIATES IN ARMS IN OUR COUNTRY'S SERVICE:—We have assembled to consult as to our duty and action in the impending political struggle which threatens the Union we fought to maintain and perpetuate. We owe allegiance to no political party, (great applause,) but to our country and its laws.—(Cheers.) Before the war many of us were Republicans, and voted with that party against the extension of slavery—now, thank God and the Union armies, swept from our land, to distract it no more forever. Many were Democrats, holding the right of the people of the Territories to establish or prohibit slavery, and the expediency of remitting the question to them. Some were Democrats, holding that neither Congress nor Territorial governments could prohibit slavery in the Territories. Those issues are now dead—they lie in the tomb with slavery. (Applause.) They were submitted to the arbitrament of the American people in 1860, and, on their decision being rendered, the party dominant in eleven States declared the withdrawal of their States from the Union, and armed in rebellion against it.

The American people were called on by the President to suppress the rebellion. The response came, prompt and enthusiastic, from all parties outside the insurrectionary States. Republicans, Douglas Democrats, Bell and Everett men, Breckinridge Democrats, filled the ranks of our armies, and fought side by side till the rebellion was everywhere suppressed and the authority of the nation acknowledged.—(Applause.)

What broke the ties which bound us to political parties, and moulded such diverse elements in one mass, moved by one sentiment and purpose? Hatred of slavery? No; we differed greatly as to its moral and social effect. Love of war? No; we were more engrossed in the pursuits of peace, and thought less of arms, than almost any nation on the earth. Hatred of the Southern people? No; they were of our blood, and tongue, and land; born to one inheritance with us, of liberty, and power, and glory. (Applause.) It was the sentiment of nationality, (renewed cheers) determination that the Union of States should be perpetual,—and that the Constitution, which made the Union and is its bond, should be preserved and acknowledged throughout every State, and through all time, inviolate. (Loud applause.)

That was the only purpose of the war known to, or recognized by the army and navy of the United States. All else was, to that, auxiliary. Every soldier and sailor recognized that purpose; none avowed another. That sentiment raised all our armies; it was, the soul of all.—It glowed in every camp fire, and thundered from every gun. It was our cloud by day, our pillar of fire by night. It was under God, the power of the war, and bore aloft our flag after every defeat, and won us all our victories.—(Cries of "Good," and cheers.)

Not only did the army and navy know no other purpose of the war, but the American people and our rulers recognized and avowed no other. The joint resolution of the patriot and statesman, Crittenden, was passed in 1861 with but one loyal vote against it in the Senate and two in the House. It declared that the war was "waged in no spirit of oppression, but solely to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality, and rights of the several States unimpaired." (Cheers.) Throughout the war President Lincoln never swerved from the policy of that resolution, which was, and still is, the law of the land. His immortal proclamation of emancipation declares that it was issued only "as a fit and necessary war measure, for the suppression of the rebellion." And in his letter to Horace Greeley he says: "If there be those who would not save the Union, unless they could destroy slavery, I do not agree with them. What I do about slavery and the colored race, I do because I believe it helps to save the Union. My object is to save it, and not either to save or destroy slavery." (Loud cheers.)

The war would have been unjustifiable, and probably a failure, it waged for any other object beyond the restoration of the national authority. It was only justifiable because the Southern people had formed with us a perpetual Union, and owed allegiance by compact to it. If the extirpation of slavery, the elevation of the blacks, the degradation of the whites, the reduction of the representation of the States, or their exclusion from the Union, had been avowed and sought by our rulers as a direct object of the war, those rulers would have been overthrown by the people, or the war itself abandoned. [Cheers.] But on the platform that the war was waged solely to suppress the rebellion, and restore the constitutional authority of the General Government, with all the rights of the several States unimpaired, the President and Congress stood impregnable against all assaults of faction and of treason.—On that broad platform all patriots could stand and strengthen and sustain them. On that broad platform patriots of all parties did unite; and by that Union, and by it alone, the country passed triumphant through the terrific and decisive struggles of the first three years of the rebellion. [Cheers.]

But when the triumph of our arms was assured,—the valley of the Mississippi won,—and the Confederacy was seen to stagger in obstinate and hopeless conflict, the councils of our rulers became divided. The Radical leaders in Congress, anticipating the end of the war, and the early dissolution of the war party, began to consult how to wind up the struggle, so as to secure the dominion of their theories, and their sectional and personal interests. But they found in President Lincoln an inflexible opponent, who would not turn from the direct path of immediate restoration, and who repudiated their theory of State suicide, then newly invented for their party purpose. On the 8th. of December, 1863, President Lincoln issued his proclamation of amnesty and plan of restoration. All the governments of the insurrectionary States were then in the hands of rebels sworn to the Confederacy. Did he treat the States as being therefore without valid constitutions or laws? No. He treated them as being merely without the machinery of the law,—the officers of government. Did he assume to confer suffrage on whom he pleased? No. He said suffrage was fixed by State constitutions and laws, in force then as when the rebellion began; and recognized it as purely of State concern and control. He called on the voters qualified by State constitutions and laws,—on all who had been loyal, and who, having been rebels, should take the oath of amnesty and allegiance, to join in expunging from their State constitutions and laws all provisions in conflict with the Constitution and laws of the United States, and in electing State officers and members of Congress,—thus restoring the suspended relations of the States to the General Government. He imposed no new conditions precedent, and assumed no power as existing in any department of Government to impose any. He merely recommended a method for the people of each State,—recognizing in them the sole power to elect officers and modify laws, so as to place the State in allegiance to the United States,—and pledged himself as Executive of the nation to recognize and sustain each of such recognized State governments. He recommended the people to insert in their constitutions a clause declaring the then accomplished fact of the abolition of slavery. But in doing this he departed not from the principle that re-union was the sole object of the war. It was no demand of a new and extraordinary condition, but only the recognition of an accomplished effect of the war as plainly irreversible as the path of the sun in the Heavens, and to the maintenance of which the government had been compelled, by the war itself, to pledge its irrevocable faith.

Within a week after that proclamation was issued the Radical leaders brought forward their plan of reconstruction, in the bill of Henry Winter Davis. It proposed, as conditions precedent to restoration, amendments to State constitutions prohibiting slavery, repudiating the rebel debt, (both which amendments all the excluded States have since made by the advice of President Johnson,) and disfranchising about one-fourth as many of the leaders as the amendment now insisted on by Congress proposes to disfranchise; and authorized the President to recognize such State governments only after Congress had given its consent. This bill President Lincoln refused to sign, standing fast to his own plan of unconditional restoration. He was forthwith assailed with a violence and rancor only paralleled by the assaults of the same men on President Johnson. Wade and Davis, who led the assault, denounced him by manifesto as guilty of "dictatorial usurpation," and warned him, in very much the tone of the threats of impeachment now made against President Johnson, that "the authority of Congress on the question of restoration is paramount and must be respected." A National Convention was called to meet in Cleveland to nominate Fremont or Chase for President, denounce Mr. Lincoln's policy of restoration, and read him out of the party.

The call of that Convention sounds like a blast from the bugle of Greeley and Forney of to-day. [Cheers and laughter.] Hear it:

"The imbecile and vacillating policy of the present Administration, its treachery to justice and freedom in its plan of reconstruction, whereby the honor and dignity of the nation have been sacrificed in conciliating the arrogant slave power and to further the ends of an unscrupulous ambition, call in thunder tones upon the lovers of justice and their country to come to the rescue of the imperilled nationality, and the cause of impartial justice and universal freedom threatened with betrayal and overthrow."

It is hard to realize the fact that this thunder-bolt was aimed at President Lincoln two years ago instead of at President Johnson this year. But the thunderbolts of to day are forged on the same anvil, and hurled by the same hands as those which fell in noisy impotence at the feet of Abraham Lincoln.

Nearly all of the present Radical leaders of Congress were notoriously in full sympathy with this movement, but only a few of them were bold or rash enough to commit themselves to it openly and in advance. They knew Mr. Lincoln's high place in the hearts and confidence of the war party—and, though they then as now had the organization of the party in their hands, they halted and balked when the issue came;

"Afeared
To be the same in their own act and valor,
As they were in desire."

Gratz Brown, Fremont, Wade, Davis, Cochrane, Pomeroy, Wendell Phillips, Moss, Fred. Douglass, and a few hundred leaders of less note, "stood the hazard of the die." (A voice, "And Anna Dickinson.") No; Anna Dickinson did not respond to the call of the Convention, but Mrs. E. Cady Stanton did, saying she took it for granted the call of the Convention of the "Radical men of the nation" used the word men in its largest sense, and therefore she responded. (Laughter.) The Convention nominated Fremont and Cochrane, denounced the President's restoration policy, claimed that all power over the subject belongs to Congress, and insisted on the disfranchisement of all rebels, repentant and unrepentant, and the confiscation of all their lands for our soldiers. Its platform was pretty Radical, but fell a bow-shot short of the Radical programme of to-day, omitting, as it did, negro suffrage.

Then followed the Convention of the war party at Baltimore, which unanimously endorsed President Lincoln's policy, renominated him by acclamation, admitted to seats and votes in the Convention the delegates chosen from Arkansas, Tennessee, and Louisiana, which had been reorganized under his proclamation, and declared in a platform reported by Henry J. Raymond, that the only condition of peace and re-union "shall be the unconditional surrender of hostility by the rebels, and their return to their allegiance to the Constitution and laws of the United States" To make its repudiation of the theories of the Radical faction more marked, the Convention nominated Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, for Vice President, against the protest of that faction, led by Thad. Stevens, who declared that patriot State was but a conquered province, and her loyal son an "alien enemy." The war party hailed the triumph of the President and his restoration policy over the Radicals, and endorsed them overwhelmingly. The leaders of that faction, baffled and overthrown, clung to the skirts of the Administration, and were carried with it again into power. The Radical ship launched at Cleveland was abandoned almost before it touched water; and after drifting idly a month or two, sunk unnoticed, and, I regret to add, without its crew. (Applause.) But nothing daunted by the defeat of their reconstruction policy, and the triumph of that of Mr. Lincoln, they renewed the issue with him forthwith, denouncing his policy with unabated rancor and arrogance; and the last public act of his illustrious life was a speech on the 11th of April, 1865, in vindication of his policy and in favor of the immediate and unconditional admission of the Senators and Representatives from the re-organized States. (Applause.)

Now I ask, in the light of this recital, is it President Johnson or Congress who is false to the principles of the war party? The fundamental issue between them is precisely the same as that between Congress and President Lincoln—both Executives holding the States as existing with their constitutions and laws as before the rebellion, and as entitled to resume their relations to the General Government by the action of their voters, professing present loyalty, qualified under their own laws; and both Congresses holding that the States lost their constitutions and laws and rights by rebellion, and can have them again only at the pleasure of Congress, and on such terms as it may see fit to prescribe. The only difference between the issue then and now is of detail, not of principle—President Lincoln having been more liberal in proposals of pardon than his successor, and Congress less exacting and proscriptive in its conditions of restoration then than now. I assert, therefore, that Congress, and not President Johnson, has proved false to the principles of the party which placed them in power. [Prolonged applause.] They betray the principles of the glorious war party, who prevent the accomplishment of the great end of the war—who seek to make it an enemy and an obstruction to reunion—who, with distended cheeks, blow the dying embers of the rebellion to light again its lurid and destructive fires—who will have no reunion unless with guaranties of party and sectional dominion.

I am well aware that the Radicals have now won a majority of the Union party to the support of their disunion policy. I recognize the fact, and mourn the separation which must follow of men united in service and renown throughout the struggle for the preservation of our Government. The ultra leaders renewed on President Johnson the issue they made on President Lincoln, under changed circumstances most favorable to their success. The war has ended; but the hatreds it bred were fresh and strong, and there was no longer a rebellion South, compelling united councils North; and he who was most violent in denunciation of rebels, proposed the harshest penalties, and predicted the most terrible results from their restoration to citizenship, was applauded, and became a leader. Hence in Congress, as in the country generally, violence and passion and vain alarms supplanted statesmanship; and the extreme men led and carried the party lash, while abler and better men followed and obeyed it. As Toombs, and Keitt, and Wigfall forced Southern statesmen and patriots into the measures which led to the rebellion by the dread cry of "abolitionists," so Stevens, and Sumner, and Wade forced better Union men than they into their disunion policy by the still more dreaded cry of "traitor." Whatever terrors that cry may have for others, it should have none for us. We fought for the Union, and know its value. Now that it is again in peril we can afford to face storms of abuse for it as we have faced more dreadful storms for it before. (Applause.) But, gentlemen, we cannot afford to stand idly by and see it lost or endangered through fear of reproach, or love of the grand old party now put to such base uses; or hate of former enemies of the Union, now willing to help us rescue it from destruction by its whilom friends. We are bound as loyal sons of the Union to struggle again to save it by whatsoever means are at command.—In doing this we become no man's men, and no party's men, (applause;) we are supporters of the President, only because and while he sustains the Constitution; and we co-operate with the Democracy only because and while it is endangered and they sustain it. (Applause.)—Whoever are defenders of the Constitution when imperilled, they are our party; whoever assail it, they are our political foes. (Applause.)

The less ultra Radicals tell us that as soon as the constitutional amendments lately proposed are adopted, and each excluded State shall have ratified them, the Union shall be restored. But they forget or ignore that we are bound by a Constitution, obedience to which is the highest duty of citizens, and without obedience our free government will be destroyed. The Committee on reconstruction say: "They will not argue the question whether the late Confederate States are still States of the Union," as they say that is a "profitless abstraction." If this be so, then the question whether Congress is bound to obey the Constitution of the United States is also a profitless abstraction, for it entitles all States in the Union to be represented in the Senate and the House. If they are out of the Union it is because their acts of secession were valid and effectual under the Constitution; and we violated the Constitution in making war on them for seceding. If they are in it, then Congress violates the Constitution in refusing them representation through men personally qualified and duly elected to represent them. The Reconstruction Committee and Congress admit they are in the Union and have governments in allegiance, by submitting the proposed amendments to them for ratification, and offering them representation as a reward for ratifying them; for if they were not in the Union, and had not such governments, their action on the amendments would be void. The proposition that these States are in the Union is so incontrovertible, that the Reconstruction Committee were compelled to defend the action of Congress in refusing them representation, by alleging that they had committed a crime. I think the bar of the United States is yet to learn that a State can commit crime known to the law. Who is to try, or convict or sentence a State? This is but a lame and impotent excuse for the assumption of the Constitutional power to exclude States from representation at the will of Congress. If they have that power, the Constitution secures no rights to man or State which Congress, at its pleasure, may not take away; the rights guaranteed by the Constitution to States are as sacred at least as those guaranteed to persons. If they may be lawfully impaired or destroyed by Congress, then it is omnipotent. We live then under a Congress,—not under a Constitution. If thss be so, our Constitution is rottenness, and our proud Republic built on stubble. (Loud applause.)

I therefore assert that the obstruction policy of Congress is not merely in violation of the principles and objects avowed and recognized by the armies and navies, the people and the President of the United States, from the beginning to the end of the war, but also that it is in direct violation of the Constitution. This ought to be the end of the argument; but, unfortunately, the fact that that policy is generally conceded to be unconstitutional is not enough to condemn it with many, if not a majority of our people. I heard the venerable Jacob Collamer say, in 1862, that Senators of the United States had laughed when he had objected to legislation they deemed expedient on the ground only of its unconstitutionality. "That laugh," said he, "rings in my years like the knell of the Republic."

The New Orleans Picayune regrets to record that "Louisiana has been disgraced by a denial of the right of free speech to one of the colored race. If it had happened to a white man, it would not have been either so remarkable or so offensive, but to deny it to one of the nation's wards and pets is atrocious." It seems that the Reverend Armistead Lewis, a colored preacher of the Baptist denomination, in Opelousas, Louisiana, declared that the Radicals are less the friends of the colored race than the Southern men whom they wished to disfranchise, and advised his hearers to choose the latter for their friends and employers. Whereupon the Bureau autocrat of that region, who wishes to compel the negroes to take him, and those who pay him commissions, for their "friends and employers," ordered the reverend colored Lewis to abandon preaching and suspended him from his functions.

THE CONCENTRATION OF TROOPS AT WASHINGTON.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes: The arrival of troops in this vicinity has given rise to exaggerated rumors of the concentration of a large military force of from 25,000 to 30,000 at this point. The fact is that the number of soldiers for some months past has averaged only 2,000 or 3,000, and that several companies of the Twelfth infantry and a few other regular troops have been recently ordered here, the aggregate being less than the usual assignment to the headquarters of a department. It is presumed that the whole number of troops in this city and vicinity, when the arrangements are completed, will not exceed 5,000 men.

There is a dwelling with four rooms and fire-places, and an excellent well of water on the premises. The dwelling is situated in a beautiful grove of large native oak and hickory. The place, which is famous for its healthfulness, is susceptible of being made one of the most eligible county seats in the country. The land, though not rich, produces well when properly cultivated and lies well for improvement. Its nearness to Millbrook, where daily transportation to and from Raleigh could be had, while its distance from Raleigh, which would prevent it from depredations subject to places nearer the City, well adapts it for being made a dairy, nursery and vegetable farm.

Terms made easy for the purchaser. For particulars or information concerning the property, enquire of L. S. PERRY, at Raleigh, or MAJ. R. FLEMING, near Millbrook.

THE SENTINEL.

Tuesday Evening, Oct. 2, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Capt. Horton, of the R. & G. R. R., has taken up a cow, (with a young calf,) and will deliver her to the proper owner on proof of property.

A valuable farm five miles North of Raleigh, on the Oxford road, and within half a mile of the R. & G. R. R., is offered for sale. If not sold before, it will be disposed of at public auction, on the 23rd. inst. For particulars see advertisement.

Dr. P. Babcock offers for sale the desirable property on which he now resides, about one mile east of the Capitol. Also, ten acres of land near the city line.

K. Plummer and R. T. Arrington, Executors of Dr. H. L. Plummer, dec'd., will sell to the highest bidder, on the 19th inst., on the premises, the plantation near Ridgway, late the residence of the deceased, together with much other valuable property. See their advertisement.

GAS IN THE COURT HOUSE.—Our people are greatly indebted to the County Court for lighting up the Court House with gas. It has long been needed. The building was lighted with gas, last night, for the first time.

WAKE SUPERIOR COURT.—In this Court, (his Honor Judge Merrimon presiding,) Charles Johnson and Richard Putney were arraigned for highway robbery, and severally plead not guilty. Johnson being unable to employ counsel, his Honor assigned Messrs. Ed. Graham Haywood and R. C. Badger to his defence. Messrs. Busbee and Badham appear as Putney's counsel.—The prisoner Johnson was remanded, after arraignment, for trial to-morrow, Putney remaining on bail. Dancy, indicted for the same offence, is still at large.

The case of the State against ——— Glenn, indicted for killing a Confederate deserter during the war, was continued to the next term of the Court, in the absence of material witnesses for the defence. The Court then proceeded to dispose of the misdemeanor docket.

The charge of Judge Merrimon, on yesterday, to the Grand Jury, we learn, from several sources, was very able and forcible, pointing out fully the importance of enforcing and maintaining the majesty of the law, especially at the present time, and dispensing justice to all men, of whatever color or condition. He dwelt especially upon the solemn responsibility of Grand Jurors. It occupied about two hours and a half in its delivery.

WE ARE pleased to see Gov. Graham and Gov. Swain in the city, both in good health.

THANKS to the Southern Express Company for late papers.

EMIGRANTS:—Several hundred emigrants from Randolph, Chatham and other Counties arrived here this morning on their way to the North West. They are all working people, who are impelled by the short crops in the State, and the apprehensions they indulge of having negro suffrage forced upon this State, to remove to the North West. We regret this.—North Carolina cannot afford to lose a single laboring man, but if her white men are to be put on the same platform, civilly and politically, with the colored population, they see nothing but degradation before them, and hence many of them will leave the State. It has been said falsely that these men are all "unistakably Union men" and are persecuted and driven out of the State because of their opinions. There is not a word of truth in this. They are Union men, it is true, but they are poor, and they see, if the Radicals accomplish their ends, what is to be their condition. Therefore, they wish to go where they may have a white man's chance. They see, if the Holden-Radical programme succeeds, they cannot have that chance here.

ARRIVALS AT THE EXCHANGE HOTEL—Oct. 1st. 1866.—R. E. Morecock, R. & G. R. R.; W. G. Smith, Ansonville; W. W. Pratt, T. Redmon, W. H. Willard, Orange; J. Jenkins, Rowan; B. Stamel, Lumberton; T. J. Holt, Junction; P. C. Person, Franklin; J. H. McKimm, Fla.; J. P. Masenburg, Va.; M. Cohn, Petersburg; Mrs. S. P. Freeman, Roanoke Island; Maj. Gaslin and lady, U. S. A.; M. Green, Wake; M. L. Cherry, B. Dunn, Pitt.

ARRIVALS AT THE YARBOROUGH HOUSE.—October 1st.—W. L. Brodie, N. C.; John D. Whitford and son, Newbern; Jas. O. Barry, Fayetteville; G. W. Thomson, Wake; R. W. York, Chatham; J. F. Vanpelt, Statesville; S. J. Brietz, Miss L. L. Brietz, Miss E. T. Reichel, E. T. Clemmons, Salem; J. G. Garland, Texas; A. Wright, Indianapolis; J. S. Druman, Chester S. C.

OYSTERS.—The Commercial says that the Oyster season has commenced in Newbern. We hope that the reign of bivalves will soon be inaugurated here, also. We hear of several dealers who will engage in the trade this winter. Let them advertise at once.

John Forsyth, editor of the Mobile Register, who was a delegate to the first Philadelphia Convention, and at present travelling through the North, writes to his paper as follows: "The struggle will be here at the North. It is our part at the South to keep quiet and let the North fight it out 'on this line.'"

Gen. L. G. Estes, United States Collector of Internal Revenue, at Wilmington, promptly forwarded twenty-five dollars for the benefit of the sufferers at the late fire in Newbern, N. C.

The remains of Confederate soldiers who were buried during the war in Scott county, Ky., were reinterred in a cemetery near Georgetown on the 18th instant.

William F. Glover, the Yankee teacher who swindled the negroes of Caswell county, N. C., out of $190, raised to buy a library, and afterwards stole a shirt from a respectable negro named Billy Mitchell, passed through Petersburg Thursday.

Gen. Dockery's Letter.

We hasten to lay before our readers the letter of Gen. Dockery declining the nomination for Governor made by the Holden-Radical meeting in this city. Our informant, on yesterday, it will be seen, did not give us precisely Gen. Dockery's reasons for declining. The letter is equivocal in its position, yet Gen. Dockery endorses the resolutions and address, "in the main." As Mr. Holden intends still to run Gen. Dockery, we shall have occasion again to refer to the letter:

RICHMOND COUNTY, Sept. 27, 1866.

Messrs. J. F. Taylor, H. J. Menninger, and E. T. Blair:

GENTLEMEN:—Yours of the 21st instant, by the hand of our friend Mr. Logan, has been received. Accept the assurances of my regard for this additional manifestation of trust and confidence reposed in me, by our friends assembled in Raleigh on the 20th. instant, and my thanks for the very complimentary terms in which you have been pleased to make known to me the action of the meeting.

I regret, gentlemen, to say that after mature reflection, circumstances of a personal character, connected with the few days that will intervene before the day of election, precluding the possibility of even a partial canvass of the State, compel me most respectfully to decline the candidacy tendered me by the meeting in Raleigh. Allow me, however, to assure you that the resolutions and most excellent address adopted by the meeting in the main have my most cordial approval.

I greatly prefer the Howard amendment, with its reference of negro suffrage to our own Legislature, than to risk the next Congress, which, in all probability, will pass a much more stringent law upon that subject.

I also vastly prefer the restrictions upon office-holders, about which the secession organs clamor so much, to more general proscription, with the confiscation of our lands, of which there is great danger, should the proposed amendment be rejected.

The argument in favor of immediate representation in Congress cannot be answered. As well might a General be expected to resist a well-appointed army, or storm a stronghold without soldiers, as for our interests in Congress to be defended until our members shall have been admitted. And as President Johnson and Secretary Seward, as well as the Congress, have repeatedly declared the test-oath to be a prerequisite condition of admission, the people ought to invite all our members elect, who cannot comply with the required condition, to retire, and let others who can comply be elected, as an indispensable step towards harmony and restoration.

Most respectfully yours,
ALFRED DOCKERY.

TO THE VOTERS OF GRANVILLE COUNTY.

I take this way to announce to you that I am a candidate for the House of Commons in the next General Assembly.

Many friends have suggested to me that my services are desired in this exigency by many of the electors of my native County, and yielding to their suggestions, I have consented to give my name to the disposal of the voters.

Owing to the shortness of the time before the election, I cannot meet with you and declare my sentiments upon the questions now engrossing the public mind; but must content myself by giving you a synopsis which will govern me in my service as your representative.

1st. I am utterly opposed to Article 14, commonly known as the Constitutional amendment or the Howard amendment. I not only believe that it is pot "the best we can do," but I think it is the worst we can do.

If we are to be degraded, let us have no hand in it.

2d. I am against repudiation either in private or public contracts of a just and honest character.

If we are unable to pay, we are able to owe our just and honest debts.

3d. I am for establishing a penitentiary by the State. Punishment by fine, whipping and imprisonment does not pay the criminal charges. This has now to be met by taxation. We are not able to bear it, and, in my judgment, the only means to keep this tax (which is to be very heavy and onerous) off of the people is by establishing a penitentiary, whereby the convicts will pay the charges they have imposed on the State.

In conclusion I have only to say that over a half of a century I have lived in the midst of you, the place of my nativity. In 1844 I served you in the Legislature as the Chairman of the Committee upon the Deaf and Dumb and Lunatic and Insane Asylums of that session. I had the honor of reporting bills for the establishment of those institutions respectively. The bill for the first passed, the other at that session was defeated; but, under the philanthropic auspices of Miss Dix, was passed at the next session. Perhaps my advocacy of a penitentiary, in connection with the Insane Asylum, militated against its passage.

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggil's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is announced that Maggiel's Billious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhœa Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin, Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 11 Pine St., New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box.

AYER'S AGUE CURE,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

FEVER and Ague is not the only consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell, because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

SOMETHING NEW

UNDER THE SUN.

A New Era In Medicine

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITER,
Notary Public,
L. S. Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

I have over 200 such Testimonals

As this, but want of space compels me to conclude

J. MAGGIEL, M. D.

P. F. PESCUD AGENT FOR RALEIGH, FOR Maggiel's Pills and Salve.

NOTICE.—None genuine without the engraved trademark around each pot or box, signed by Dr. J. MAGGIEL, 11 Pine Street, New York, to counterfeit which is felony.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON, D. C,

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unsurpassed facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative value, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the Collegge Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

For circulars giving full information, for specimens of Penmanship, of the College currency and merchandise.

M'ILWAINE & CO.,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN STAPLE & FANCY DRY GOODS.

No. 79 Sycamore Street,

Petersburg, Virginia,

TAKE PLEASURE IN INFORMING THEIR friends and the trade generally that the steady increase of their business has rendered it necessary for them to add two rooms to their Dry Goods Department, together with a large and convenient entrance from Tabb street, which arrangement gives them a most spacious Sales-room, well lighted, and enables them by this increased accommodation to add largely to their Fall Supply.

They beg leave to invite particular attention to their extensive assortment of

made to order under the supervision of Mr. A. S. SHAFER, whose long experience in this department of business, in this city, has made him familiar with the wants of Merchants in Virginia and North Carolina. Anticipating a heavy Trade this Fall, their stock will be found unusually large, embracing a general assortment of

American and Foreign

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

together with a full line of

which having been purchased for cash, they have no hesitation in saying to the Trade, that they are prepared to offer such inducements as will insure satisfaction.

Capt. EDWARD GRAHAM and Mr. JOHN McNEECE have charge of this Department, and will be pleased to exhibit our stock to buyers visiting this market. McILWAINE & CO.
